

Acknowledgements

On the occasion of the finalization of this thesis, I would like to express my sincere gratitude to the people who provided me with their help during the past five years. Without their help, this thesis would never have come into being.

First, I would like to thank my Dutch promotor Prof. dr. Marinus J. A. Werger. He helped me to set up the research plan, taught me how to approach scientific issues from various perspectives, and how to write a concise scientific paper. He also expanded my knowledge of the Dutch culture. I would especially like to thank Prof. Werger and his wife Elke Werger for their hospitality during my stay in Utrecht. I am also very grateful to my Chinese promotor Prof. dr. Zhangcheng Zhong for continually stimulating me during my study and for giving me support during my field work. I would like to express my heartfelt gratitude to Prof. Zhong and his wife Ruizhi Li for their concern for my personal well-being.

I am very indebted to Heinjo During and Feike Schieving for their assistance in my work. They were always enthusiastic when discussing my ideas and results and patient when answering my questions. Talking with them was very pleasant, because of their wisdom, cordiality, and kindness. I want to thank my two roommates Mark van Nieuwstadt and Marielos Peña-Claros for their support in all possible ways during my stay in Utrecht. I am grateful to Lourens Poorter, Josef Stuefer and Heidrun Huber for their discussions about my work, their help with statistical problems, and their general encouragement. Many people at the Department of Plant Ecology in Utrecht University helped to make my time in Utrecht unforgettable, they are Bert van Uft, Betty Verduyn, Eric Arets, Frank Millenaar, Frank Sterck, Gerrit Heil, Hans ter Steege, Hendrik Poorter, Ilona Blinova, Jacaranda van Rheenen, Jan van Rheenen, Jo Willems, Makihiko Ikegami, Marja van Staalduinen, Marjet Elemans, Merel Soons, Pieter Zuidema, René Verburg, Roderick Zagt, Roel Brienens, Sander van Hal, Shirrinka Goubitz, Simmone Rose, Tessa Pronk, Toon Rijkers, and Wim Dijkman. I would like to thank Dew Makhan and his family for their generous hospitality.

Many Chinese friends made my stay in Utrecht easy, they are Dong Ming, Guo Ke, Guo Yuanfang, He Ping, He Taiping, Li Guangfen, Li Jiaping, Li Rui, Lu Shanyun, Shi Ying, Sun Pengyue, Sun Xiaotian, Tian Yixin, Wang Chengfang, Wang Deshou, Wu Aiju, Xia Xinghua, Yuan Zhaorui, Zhang Kecheng, etc.

I am grateful to Prof. Li Xuguang, Prof. Liu Yucheng, Tao Jianping, and Wei Hong at the Plant Ecology Research Group in Southwest China Normal University for their help during my work. My labour in the field was alleviated and the field work was made more pleasant by the dedicated assistance of many students from the Faculty of Life Sciences, Southwest China Normal University. I can not forget the days working with them in the field when the temperature was higher than 40 °C and the relative humidity larger than 85 percent. I also bear vivid memories of the days we walked back 10 km to the campus because we missed the last bus. These students are: Bai Xue, Chen Guangsheng, Dan Xueming, Deng Chaozhi, Guo Jianhua, Guo Peijun, He Jisheng, Huang Zhengwei, Jiang Min, Jiao Baowei, Li Chunhua, Li Cuilan, Li Huiqin, Li Jun, Li Li, Liu Guangli, Liu Lunhua, Liu Qinghua, Lu junqiang, Luo Yiping, Luo Zhaoqing, Ma Jijun, Mo Banghui, Peng Shuming, Qi Daihua, Qi Zemin, Quan Hong, Shi Shengyou, Tu Weiguo, Wang Kan, Wang Ye, Wang Zhouping, Wu Tianli, Xuan Yu, Yan Zhiquan, Yang Bing, Yang Jinxiu, Yang Juan, Yin Changping, Zeng Jinzhou, Zhang Meng, Zhang Mingsheng, Zhao Qunfen, and Zou Xiuping.

I would like to thank many members of the administrative staff in both the Netherlands and China who helped me in a multitude of practical ways. They are Bertus Ebbenhorst, Helene Eijkelenboom, Henny Blom, Leonard Bik, Margriet Dekker, Petra van den Beemt, René Kwant, and Theo Mastwijk at the Department of Plant Ecology, Utrecht University; and An Chunyuan, Tan Yao, Yang Hua, Zhang Yong, Zhang Yaoguang, Gao Feng, Huang Lin, Wang Zhijian, Wu Yingfen and Pan Mei at Southwest China Normal University.

I thank the Netherlands Foundation for the Advancement of Tropical Research (WOTRO) and Science and Technology Commission of Chongqing Municipality, China for their financial support for the research.

I am very grateful to my parents and brothers and to my parents-in-law for their continuous support. Most of all, I want to express my special thanks to my wife for her consideration, understanding, patience, and love.